Father of Six Admits Hurling Boys to Death

Threw Two Small Brothers from Speeding Boat

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — A father of six children confessed today that he threw two small brothers to their deaths from a speeding motorboat after sexually molesting one of the boys, Sheriff M. J. Daffin announced.

Daffin said Dallas Withers, 33, broke down after two days of interrogation by police and admitted that he "committed an act of perversion" on David Wilson, 7, and threw him into the waters of St. Andrews Bay.

The body of David's 4-year-old brother, Douglas, was found on the beach earlier and Withers also admitted throwing him into the water.

An intensive search still was in progress today for the older child's body.

Withers was taken out of Panama City shortly after his arrest Tuesday because of a fear of mob action. He was questioned in a secret jail.

Withers had changed his story several times. Earlier he said one of the boys fell out of the boat during a "joy ride" and that, in fear, he threw the other one overboard.

Withers, an electrician, was intoxicated at the time, police said.

Withers has been formally charged with Douglas's murder. Daffin said murder charges will be filed in David's death when the body is found.

Daffin had been at a loss to explain bloodstains on Withers' clothes at the time of his arrest. The sheriff said the electrician admitted today the blood was David's.

The man did not tell the sheriff if David was dead or alive when thrown into the bay, but Daffin said, "We expect the child's body to be mutilated when it is found."

Taxpayers May Pay Taxes By Mail, Cannon Says

Maynard Cannon, Saline county treasurer and collector, pointed out today that taxpayers may pay their taxes by mail if they wish to do so.

Mr. Cannon said many taxpayers in the past had used this service, but others had not learned it might be done.

Taxpayers will avoid standing in line to wait at the collector's office, or may eliminate a trip to the court house if they pay by mail, he pointed out.

Tax bills may be paid as any other bill, he said, by mailing a check or money order with the tax statements to the collector's office.

Receipts will be mailed to the taxpayer.

Mr. Cannon pointed out that, if address of the taxpayer differs from that on the tax statement, a notation should be made so the receipts will be returned to the proper address.

President Issues Warning To Influence-Peddlers

TRUCKERS CHECKED BY ICC AND STATE POLICE—Investigators from the Illinois Commerce Commission, in cooperation with the Illinois State Police, set up road blocks at the intersection of Routes 13 and 45 Thursday and continued through today to investigate all trucks passing along the highways. Checks were made for motor carriers doing business without authority under the law; those operating with authority but whose equipment is without proper identification marks and those operating without required franchise plates. Operators' licenses were also checked. Three ICC investigators, left to right, J. H. Berkbigler of Grand Tower, Howard Turner of Vienna and J. Hobart Travis of Rosiclare, were on duty and shown after checking an Egyptian Freightways truck. State Patrolman Adolph Sweat is checking the driver's license. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Two Small Boys Are Problem For Authorities

Two Eldorado brothers, ages 6 and 9, continued to be a problem for Saline county authorities.

Two weeks ago the boys were picked up by the county sheriff's department and they admitted taking part in a number of thefts and the ransacking of a house in Eldorado.

This matter was still pending.

This morning the kids were back again, with their parents.

Eldorado Police Chief James Johnston said the two had admitted playing havoc with the inside of the home of James Patton at Smith and Ridge streets, close to where the boys reside.

With Patton and his wife in Hot Springs, Ark., where Patton is employed, the two entered the house and scattered everything. They also poured ink on furniture and rugs and spread flour around the place.

Austin Gibson, 69, Will Be Honored Musician at Music Festival May 12

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A veteran southern Illinois music educator who began his career 42 years ago as a pit musician in a silent movie house will be "Honored Musician" at the Southern Illinois Music Festival here May 12. The "Music Under the Stars" event, now in its seventh year, will feature a cast of more than 3,000 musicians and singers, headed by operatic soprano Virginia Haskins.

Austin Gibson, 69-year-old director of music in the Vienna school system, will be honored for his longtime service to music education in the area. He has taught at Vienna for 27 years.

Born in Goreville, Gibson began the study of music early in life and was playing professionally by the time he was 19. In 1914 he moved to Harrisburg where, for the next 15 years, he played cornet in the Orpheum Theater and served as bandmaster for the Municipal Band.

In 1929 Gibson moved to Vienna, working for the next 17 years with both the grade school and high school bands. For the past 10 years he has directed the high school orchestra only.

Gibson's orchestra participated in the first national state contests ever held, and has received superior ratings in five state and three district contests. In 1949 the Vienna Board of Education honored its music director by naming the music quarters in the new high school "Gibson Hall."

Gibson, who will be introduced to the Festival audience by Southern Illinois University President Delyte W. Morris, will join six other area music educators who have been honored in previous events.

In addition to Miss Haskins, the Festival's complement of performers includes 1,219 singers in the elementary chorus, 1,174 high school chorus members, a 200-piece elementary band and a 200-piece high school band. The musicians will come from 44 Southern Illinois schools. Other attractions include the 150-piece Joliet High School band, the Marion Harris Boy Scout Indian Dancers and a massed unit of 100 baton twirlers under the direction of Nick Michalares, former drum major with the Purdue and Indiana University bands.

The Festival program begins at 7:30 p. m. in SIU's McAndrew Stadium. Should rain fall—and no Music Under the Stars program has ever been completely rained out—Miss Haskins and the Joliet Band will give a concert in Shryock Auditorium. The remainder of the program would be postponed a week.

John Allen Offers Collection to County Historical Society if Museum Secured

The Saline County Historical society met last Tuesday evening in the club room of the Harrisburg Public Library.

Charles R. Rann, accompanied by Miss Holloway, both of Carrier Mills, sang a solo and then Mr. Rann played a piano solo.

Announcement was made of the coming meeting of the Southern Illinois Historical society at Southern Illinois, Carbondale at 6:30 p. m. on May 10. The Illinois Historical society meets at Dixon, May 18-19. Gov. Stratton is to address this state meeting.

President Louis Aaron asked Secretary James Bond to relay a message of importance to the society, which had been recently received from John Allen, of Carbondale. This was an offer from Mr. Allen to donate his collection of historical documents and certain items to the Saline county society provided that a suitable museum be furnished to house them.

The museum was discussed, and a committee was appointed to survey the possibilities of one. The committee is: Judge D. F. Rumsey, C. O. Davenport, John Foster, Madeline Holloway, and E. B. Webster.

Mr. Farley introduced Roger Q. Kimmel of Murphysboro, who spoke on Egypt—Rare and Unusual Historical Items. Mr. Kimmel early began to write on Egypt, being asked to particularly do this for Egyptian Day at the Century of Progress fair in Chicago, 1934. Much of this address was repeated by Mr. Kimmel to the society.

The collection of newspapers, books, etc. was explained in detail. Varied items ranging from a tax receipt for $1.61 paid on 160 acres of land, to precious first editions of old books, were discussed. The oldest book he has is of Dutch origin, published in 1618. One Boston Gazette dated 1813. The Saturday Evening Post, a double sheet newspaper rather than a magazine form, dated February 2, 1841, and "Brother Johnathan," a double page newspaper were among the most interesting exhibits. "Brother Johnathan" after being folded is 32 x 44 inches, and is the largest newspaper ever seen by Mr. Kimmel, he stated. A mortgage on a male Negro slave from Georgia as a security for an $800 loan, was in the exhibit. The speaker stated that this was the only mortgage of this kind he had ever seen. The second annual catalogue, of Southern Illinois college, Carbondale, a 30 page booklet, was published in 1868.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. J. M. Burley, Mrs. John Foster, Miss Elsa Tyndale, and Mrs. J. D. Morse.

Methodists Study Women Clergy Rights

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Women demanded equal rights in the pulpit at the General Conference of the Methodist Church today.

The lawmakers of Methodism, their major controversy over racial segregation settled, were expected to take up the touchy issue of granting full clergy rights to women pastors today.

A record 4,600 resolutions went before the current quadrennial conference and more than half of them were on the equal rights issue.

At present women pastors do not have full voting rights in the church of appointment following ordination.

A conference committee has proposed that full clergy rights be given to single women and widows.

The Methodists drove toward a Monday adjournment date and acted quickly to clean up remaining business after their decision to move toward voluntary racial desegregation.

In action Thursday, they approved a $12,200,000 world service budget covering missions and general operating expenses.

The budget is a 25 per cent jump over the previous mark of $9,660,000 a year over a four-year period. The church's council on world service and finance said it means $1.31 instead of $1.06 from every church member annually.

Gov't Officials Ordered to Fire Privilege Users

Eisenhower is Questioned About
Chotiner Case

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower angrily warned influence-peddlers today to steer clear of his administration.

He said government officials are under long-standing orders from him to throw out of their offices instantly anybody who tries to claim political influence or privilege in dealings with the government.

The President also served notice at his news conference that if it ever comes to his attention that anyone within his administration is trying to exercise influence, such a person will be fired immediately.

Mr. Eisenhower's spirited denunciation of persons claiming influence in dealing with units of his administration was produced by questions involving Murray Chotiner, who was 1952 campaign manager for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Chotiner testified Thursday before the Senate investigations subcommittee that in representing clients with federal agencies, he had never traded on Nixon's influence.

Cites Two Orders

The President said he was not conversant with all of Chotiner's testimony, but he wanted reporters to know that early in his administration he had issued two specific orders:

1. If anyone having business with the government should be treated with courtesy. The President said he would not stand for arrogance on the part of any public official.

2. If anyone ever claimed political influence or privilege because he is a friend of the President or someone in his official family, the person making such a claim is to be thrown out instantly.

The President said that in the Chotiner case—as far as he was familiar with it—he had no reason to believe that either of these orders had been violated.

Points to Naval Air Strength

Other highlights in Mr. Eisenhower's meeting with reporters:

1. The chief executive said it was disappointing that 37 B-32 intercontinental bombers had to be rejected by the Air Force because of mechanical defects. But he said it was not proper to use the strength of the Air Force as a single measuring standard against the air power of Russia. He pointed out that the United States has the most powerful navy in the world and this power currently features naval air strength which has not yet been outlined for the Senate armed forces subcommittee on air power.

2. Regarding his physical ability to continue in the presidency, he said his doctors told him that he could continue on his present schedule indefinitely. He said that if he is re-elected, he plans to resume some of the ceremonial, social duties which he dropped after his heart attack.

Denies Democratic Charge

3. Stormily he rejected the Democratic charge that he was delegating his powers. He said no president can delegate constitutional authority and he never had any intention of doing so. Mr. Eisenhower said someone else in his administration might make a decision, but he is the one who has to take the final responsibility.

4. He advised caution in congressional consideration of any constitutional amendment for a 25 per cent limit on income taxes. Mr. Eisenhower said the common sense of America ought to find some proper limitation on taxes to avoid concentration of tax authority in federal hands to the detriment of state and local governments. But he was concerned about what a constitutional limitation might do to federal finances in event of a national emergency.

5. He did not like the form of the new farm bill passed Thursday by the House, but said he would have to base his final judgment on the measure as it leaves Congress after final passage. The President said he had not studied the new bill in detail but he understood it was poor legislation substantively, and would require Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Taft to do substantially to the liking of the parliament.

About Town And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

DALE SULLIVAN, for a while, was wanting to pay a bill and didn't know how. Here is what happened:

His wife, Mary Lou, had seen a little religious book here and she wanted a copy for her and a daughter. The copy she saw gave the publisher's name and gave an address in Scotland.

"Send it C.O.D.," she wrote the Scottish publisher.

It wasn't too long a time that the two books came—just what she wanted.

They didn't come C.O.D., but accompanying was a statement for the cost. The statement said she owed 9.6.

Now Dale wanted to pay his wife's bill but didn't know just what to pay. And how much was the 9.6 in American money?

He did a little questioning around town and found out that the 9.6 meant nine shillings and six pence. That, he was told, amounted to about $1.90 in American money.

Dale was relieved. He was planning to send the publisher's a check for $2.

One other thing: This same book could have been bought through a book store in Chicago, they found out.

BOB ARMISTEAD is the subject of a feature story by Mrs. J. A. Musgrave of Harrisburg in the May 4 issue of The Illinois Baptist.

The story of the local youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Armistead of this city, tells of his work in the field of religion, starting from the time he was entered in the Cradle Roll department of the First Baptist church. He now is in the Navy and is chaplain's assistant at the Pearl Harbor Naval base.

A graduate of Baylor university in 1955, where he majored in religion and philosophy, Bob is an ordained minister.

The year before his graduation, the story points out, he and another student spent their vacation in Crescent City, Calif. They got work in a big lumber camp and with scrap lumber donated by the company, the two boys, with their own hands, built a mission. All that summer they held services, then returned to school.

After graduation, Bob again returned to Crescent City and reopened the mission. Then he went to Coos Bay, Oregon, and became pastor of a Baptist mission already established there. He was ordained by the Coos Bay church.

He stayed there, the story relates, until he joined the Navy last Dec. 1.

Capt. Engstrom Returned to Duty by State Police After 6-Month Suspension

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — State Police Capt. Henry W. Engstrom, who was suspended last December for six months, returned to duty today in a headquarters office job.

Acting State Police Supt. William H. Morris said Engstrom, former battalion commander of the Sterling and Rock Island districts, reported for duty Thursday. He will receive regular captain's pay of $460 a month.

Morris said Engstrom would be assigned to handling "arrest tickets and reports before they go up to the station" and keeping certain other files.

He said Engstrom "probably will have other duties, too, but I don't know right now what they will be."

When Engstrom was suspended,

House Passes Farm Bill, 314-78; Aiken Charges Price-Boosting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today he believes President Eisenhower would veto in its present form the new price-boosting farm bill approved by the House Thursday.

Aiken, Senate leader of administration farm forces, said objectionable features of the House measure outweigh its provision for an enlarged $1.25 billion version of Mr. Eisenhower's proposed soil bank. He accused the Democrats of playing politics with farm income.

He said the "most objectionable" feature in the bill is a provision calling for a 16 per cent increase in price supports for feed grains.

He said the provision would increase retail prices of milk, cheese, eggs, chickens, pork and beef. He said it also would cut the incomes of dairy, poultry and livestock producers.

But some other senators, Democrats and Republicans, appeared confident the Senate would approve the House bill probably with some changes and Mr. Eisenhower would sign it. The changes they had in mind wouldn't make it more acceptable to the administration.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) promised speedy consideration of the measure by his Senate Agriculture committee.

The House voted 314 to 78 Thursday for the bill after twice refusing to give Mr. Eisenhower authority to make advance soil bank payments.

The bill includes a 10 per cent increase in price supports for non-commercial corn as well as a 10 per cent increase in cotton acreage by 100,000 acres to 17.5 million acres, increase funds for disposal abroad of farm surpluses and make available an additional $500 million a year to support prices of perishable farm products.

The bill did not contain the rigid high price supports that caused the President to veto the first farm bill last month.

Grazing lands were added to the 10 major crops eligible for the soil bank. The secretary of agriculture also would be authorized to add potatoes and all other field crops to the list at his discretion.

British Were Not Fooled

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
If there are to be any striking results from the British visit on Soviet leaders Bulganin and Khrushchev, they are not apparent in anything that has transpired so far. On the contrary, the pickings seemed amazingly thin.

Some probable gains in British-Russian trade in non-strategic materials, and a new Soviet emphasis on support of the United Nations effort to preserve Arab-Israeli peace—that just about sums it up on the positive side.

The real significance of this Communist foray onto the "tight little island" is that the two blundering diplomats from Moscow learned it is utterly useless to try to woo Britain away from the United States and the Western alliance.

They learned, too, that for all their deep yearning for peace the ordinary citizens of Britain are not glibly folk willing to take a "good will" visit as a substitute for genuine peace concessions.

In their tour Bulganin and Khrushchev got the chilly treatment deserved by proved agents of treachery and unproved "lovers of peace." When it comes to coating a situation with the proper thickness of ice, nobody can surpass the British. They produced nothing.

The lesson ought not to be lost on Prime Minister Nehru and the Indian officials who last year sparked a giddy round of enthusiastic popular receptions for the Soviet "Happiness Boys" in India.
The tour suggested the triumphal progress of men who could not have done less than invented peace.

Such naive responses cannot be excused by saying the Indians desire peace more than others. Neither the British nor any Europeans living close within the shadow of Red military might yield to others in their desperate wish to avoid a nuclear war.

The difference is that most of the British, including the moderate leaders of the opposition Labor party, understand the real workings of the Soviet system and the true purposes of communism
as directed by the Kremlin.

They do not believe that the search for peace demands that they blind themselves to the realities. They know that he who is neutral toward murder is on his way to being an accomplice in it.

Whatever secret longings may lie in British hearts for a kind of neutrality in this great East-West struggle, they could not bring themselves to be neutral toward Bulganin and Khrushchev.

They knew what they were, and they treated them accordingly.
They knew, too, that even the rules of politeness governing a host's behavior could not be allowed to conceal their distaste for tyranny's traveling salesmen.

In this meeting this situation,
the British gave remarkable demonstration of the moral strength which lies at the root of so much of their history. They showed they know how to use responsibly the great privilege of being free men.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Secretary Of Defense Wilson
Refused To Believe Russians
Forging Ahead In Air Power;
In 11 Short Years Russia
Caught Up With Us In Air Design; Moscow Locks Its Airplane Builders Inside Factory
Until They Finish Plane.

WASHINGTON. — It was on May Day, two years ago this week, that the United States got its first shock indicating that Russia was on the way to forging ahead of us in air power.

As American and allied military attaches stood reviewing the usual
May Day exhibition of Russian military might, a giant jet thundered over Moscow house-tops at an altitude of only 250 feet. The bomber was so tremendous that its shadow literally spanned the great Red Square as it flashed through the morning sunlight. American observers quickly noted that its four intake vents seemed larger than any they had seen at home,
that the heavy plane easily kept up with swift jet fighter squadrons.

Messages of shocked reaction immediately burned the cables to Washington. But Secretary of Defense Wilson refused to be alarmed. He dismissed the new bomber
as a single, hand-built prototype assembled by the Russians to scare the western world into more defense spending. He noted that the plane had only four engines and pronounced it an underpow-ered showpiece. Air Force generals disagreed, but Wilson overruled them.

Real shock came a year later—1955 — when the Russians flew their prize bomber across the Moscow skyline again. By that time the lone giant of the previous May Day had company—18 more big battle-planes. Of these, 13 bore routine Red Air Force markings. Six, with no markings, apparently were so fresh from the factory they hadn't been assigned to combat units. Each sported a new underbelly bulge, an ominous modification that experts identified as extra room for the H-bomb.

ELEVEN SHORT YEARS

Our intelligence agencies went to work compiling technical data.
All available facts on the monster bomber were secretly supplied to our own manufacturers.
They were asked to figure how long it took the Russians to produce such a plane. The whole Soviet air buildup was re-examined, and the fantastic truth emerged.

In 11 short years, the Russians had not only caught up with us in the world's largest air force. She has more combat planes than this country, and her factories are producing them faster. She has accomplished this so secretly that our intelligence has repeatedly been caught napping.

Our technical intelligence has made detailed examinations of 14 Soviet planes since 1945. These airplane autopsies showed that Soviet technology lagged behind us from 1945 until 1952. Since 1952, the Russians have equaled our best efforts in air weapons.
In some categories, we are slightly ahead; in others, they are superior.

American manufacturers concluded from their secret study that Russia's giant jet Bison completed the cycle from drawing boards to military service in four years—compared with the eight years which the U. S. spent developing the B-52. The first Bison appeared over Moscow two years before our intelligence thought it could be possible. When the Russians flew 19 in formation a year later, the U. S. had only two complete B-52s.

SEALED IN FACTORIES

American agents report the Kremlin sealed engineers, technicians, and workers into plant 23
in Moscow and refused to let them out until they had built the Bison.
The imprisoned personnel, working around the clock, set an astonishing production record.
The Soviets are now turning out the Bison at plant 23 at the rate of five every month. They are using unskilled labor wherever possible, taking short cuts and holding down design changes. Soon, says Air Force intelligence, plant 23 should be making 10 Bisons per month. Russia already has 20 jet-powered Bisons assigned to combat units. Our total of B-52s ready for combat is only three.
(In both countries, of course,
many more of the big jets are near completion.)

On top of all this, Kremlin
Czar Nikita Khrushchev has now boasted that Russia will also develop the first intercontinental guided missile with a hydrogen warhead. This missile will be capable of hitting anywhere in the world with a destructive force measured in millions of tons of TNT. Our experts say Khrushchev would not risk losing face by making this open boast unless he was sure of himself.

Note: The Eisenhower administration's economy program,
more than anything else, has cost us air superiority. Administration spokesmen excuse this on the design, but outstripped us in production of jet planes. Numerically, the Soviet Union today has grounds that peace prospects are better, hence there is less need for a big air force. Air generals warn, however, that we must gear

our strength to Russian capabilities, not guesswork on Russian intentions.

WILL HISTORY REPEAT?

Justice Hugo Black of the Supreme Court is now out of politics. He can't comment on the current presidential race, but he can recall history. And if history today is anything like history
when Black ran for congress in Alabama, neither Senator Kefauver nor Adlai Stevenson will come out the winner in the Democratic convention in Chicago.

Here is the history which Justice Black recalls. In 1927 he was running as a dark-horse candidate for Congress in Alabama. Chief candidates were John H. Bankhead and ex-Gov. Thomas E. Kel-
by. They not only were the front-running candidates but staged a full-dress debate in Sheffield. Just before the debate Black had a sign painter get to work. Black instructed him:

"You take this sign and put it up outside the auditorium so ev-

Liberal Forces Will Triumph In Russia: Dulles

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

A vast network of wires has covered America in less than half a century. These metallic fibres have changed our way of living and have made life so different that our forebears would not be able to believe their eyes if they were to come alive in our electric age.

Almost everything now depends on electricity for its power or functioning. As we look at the metal strings stretching from pole to pole we do not know whether pictures, voices, light or power are moving unseen before our very eyes.

We do not understand the cause behind electricity, but we know that it has always existed and that it is only usable as a result of moving objects near other moving objects with a lot of wired connections.

We cannot see electricity, but we can see its results. We cannot describe it adequately, yet we accept this wonderful servant of man on faith without understanding much about it.

Faith is the evidence of things not seen. It is the substance of consistency. It is the reality of the unknown.

No one who rides in an automobile or who switches on a light can any longer say, "I cannot believe in God because I cannot see Him."

Belief in God is easier than belief in electricity. We accept obvious results on faith.

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State
John Foster Dulles said today that the "forces of liberalism" will rise and triumph in the Soviet Union
if the West holds firm against the Communist dictators.

Dulles made his statement at the opening secret session this morning of the NATO Council. The 15 foreign ministers of the member nations are meeting to map
new strategy for the Atlantic alliance in the present period of transition brought on by the new Soviet policy of smiles.

Dulles exhorted his colleagues to show the same strength in the face of the new Soviet tactics of friendliness that they did when Moscow's policy was one of frowns and threats. He predicted that if they did, the West would then reasonably expect the Soviet Union to become an acceptable free nation.

Eight of the 15 foreign ministers spoke at the morning session,
and most of them were reported as having views similar to those of Dulles.

Conference sources said they were agreed that there already have been changes inside the Soviet Union following the death of Josef Stalin and the consequent policy of downgrading his importance. But there was skepticism that ultimate Soviet aims have changed with their tactics. The consensus was that while there have been "important" changes in Russia, the West still must keep up its guard.

Arlene, Tex., composer of "Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes."
The song goes:
"Just like a rainbow brightens
a rainy day, Mamie can smile and her winning smile makes it a brighter day."

Thanking the wives of senator
and congressmen for the party, Mrs. Eisenhower said: "I for one am taking home a song in my heart."

The new two-year contract provides a 40-hour work week and an immediate $2.50 a week pay increase. The teamsters will get another $2.50 raise Dec. 1 and a $2 a week raise May 1, 1957.

The deliverymen had been working 42 hours for $60 a week.

The contract covers about 25 teamsters. It is retroactive to Tuesday, the day the old contract expired.

Israel Charges New Incidents

JERUSALEM (U.P.)—Israel charged today that Egyptian and Jordanian infiltrators violated Israeli territory only a few hours after United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld completed his "peace mission" in the Middle East.

One Jordan infiltrator was killed in a clash with an Israeli patrol, authorities said.

Israeli Army Col. Nehemia Brosh said that in one incident an Israeli patrol encountered Jordan infiltrators in the Gilboa region Thursday and shot one. Gilboa is near the Israel-Jordan border, about 45 miles north of Jerusalem.

In a second incident, Brosh said, Egyptians stole Israeli crops at Nahal Oz near the Gaza strip. There was no fighting nor casualties, he said.

Both incidents occurred shortly after Hammarskjöld flew to Rome to begin work on a report he hopes will transform his shaky cease-fire agreements into a permanent peace.

House Committee Complains of Army Directives

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House Appropriations Committee apparently doesn't know something that any new or old GI could tell it: You can't even cut grass in the Armed Forces without a directive on how to do it.

The committee said Thursday Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and his department should spend more time on policy matters and less on details.

The committee complained, slipping into Pentagon jargon: "An example of the detailed instructions emanating from the office of the secretary of defense is a directive promulgating uniform basic standards for the maintenance of grounds."

Translating both committee and Pentagon lingo, the regulation tells the troops to cut the grass when it needs it.

For example: "Mowing schedules shall be regulated by the amount of growth. Equipment should be selected that will provide the most economical and efficient mowing."

The committee implied the directives are so many and so verbose that nobody can get them read. It said they are "apparently prepared in a vacuum in Washington" anyway.

Ex-Forester Found Guilty of Slaying Wife

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.)—A jury Thursday found Darrel F. Parker, 24, former Lincoln city forester, guilty of the Dec. 14 strangulation murder of his 22-year-old wife because she allegedly resisted his advances.

The jury, which deliberated 48 hours, recommended life imprisonment. Parker and members of his family left the courtroom in tears.

Mrs. Lynn Parker, called in the verdict, a bunch of dirty lies.

Couple Robbed By Gunman in Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A well-dressed gunman trailed a Canadian couple to their room in the swank Palmer House Hotel late Thursday night. He trussed them up and took loot valued at $1,245.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilford Ford of Hamilton, Ont., said the man followed them into the elevator of the State Street hotel when they returned from dinner at the Chez Paree night club.

He got off with them at the 17th floor and, when they reached their room, pulled a snub-nosed pistol from beneath a newspaper he was carrying.

"This is a stickup," he said. "Don't make any noise and you won't get hurt."

He taped the couple's hands behind their back and threw them on their beds. Then, using socks taken from Ford's luggage as gloves, he ransacked their trunks.

The Fords said they lost $145 in cash, a diamond ring worth $1,000 and a man's wristwatch worth $100. They wriggled free of the bonds and summoned help after the gunman left.

Mrs. Ford, 37, said her father is an ex-Chicagoan and had warned her of the Windy City's wild ways.

"But this is 1956," she said. "I can't imagine a thing like this happening in a modern city."

15-Year-Old Boy Kills Teacher, Wounds Two Others

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (U.P.)—A 15-year-old boy killed one teacher and wounded two others today in a wild shooting rampage at the Maryland Park Junior high school here.

Frazier Cameron, 32, formerly of Westfield, N. J., was shot down in front of his horrified pupils in the 8th grade classroom. He slumped over a desk and died immediately while some children went into hysterics.

Dan Wagner, the baseball coach, was shot in the side in the office of school principal John Hrezo. His condition was considered good.

Robert Hicks, a seventh grade teacher, was wounded slightly in the finger when he ran out into the hall to see what was going on.

Police said that the boy, who entered the school recently, apparently went berserk with a rifle. He fled in an automobile, but wrecked the car and was captured.

Find Two Boys Lost in Mine

TARENTUM, Pa. (U.P.)—Two 15-year-old boys lost overnight in a vast coal mine were found unharmed today.

The boys, Joseph Pitkavish and Paul Crawford said they had wandered through the tunnels of the Allegheny Coal and Coke Co. mine for nearly 24 hours trying to find a way out.

A nine-man search party, one of several which had probed the 10 miles of tunnels in the mine, found the boys a short distance from one of the mine entrances near the Allegheny Valley hospital.

The search party took the boys, both of nearby Brackenridge, to the hospital where they were treated for mild shock and exposure.

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (U.P.)—Two Army "jeeps" collided 600 feet above the ground here.

The jeeps were among several parachuted in an exhibition. Their parachutes collided and swung the vehicles together. One was destroyed when it crashed to earth, and the other was damaged badly by the collision.

Lawyer Groups To Push for Court System Revision

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Two lawyers' groups announced today they will push again for revision of the Illinois court system in the 1957 legislative session.

The governing boards of the Chicago and Illinois State Bar Associations said they again had approved the same constitutional amendment which failed to get through the Legislature in 1955.

The proposal would consolidate trial courts in each judicial circuit, streamline review procedure, and give the Illinois Supreme Court administrative power over all courts.

It would propose a new system for choosing judges. Under this plan, a nominating commission picked by the governor and the Supreme Court would choose candidates. They would run unopposed. Thereafter, a judge would run for reelection on his record.

If approved by the Legislature next year, the amendment would be placed on the ballot in 1958. The commission system for choosing judges is optional; if the amendment won voter approval in 1958, voters would decide in 1960 whether to adopt the commission method, or continue to elect judges.

All Smiles

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Mrs. Iris Smiles, 26, was all smiles today, because her husband satisfied all her requirements for setting aside a divorcee decree.

Smiles bought her a new convertible, began construction on a new home, gave Mrs. Smiles a checking account, made reservations for a second honeymoon in the Bahamas, and promised to cultivate an interest in art and music.

To Deny Federal Aid For Segregated Airport Facilities

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The government announced today that it will deny federal aid funds for the construction of segregated facilities at airports.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration made the announcement after Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Negro Democrat from New York, disclosed the new policy in a special statement.

The CAA said the government will deny federal aid for the construction of any segregated facilities at any airport. This includes separate waiting rooms, rest rooms, dining rooms, kitchens, and similar installations.

St. Paul Board of Education Ends Free Use of School Buildings

ST. PAUL, Minn. (U.P.)—The St. Paul Board of Education, under fire for its decision to eliminate high school athletics and other "frills," took a step further today by ending the free use of school buildings.

From now on, the board said, organizations must pay a fee for using school buildings for meetings and other goings-on. The fees will be limited to a strict cost basis, however.

The move was in line with the education board's sweeping economy campaign to get enough money to give teachers a $50-a-month raise.

Robinson Man Arrested On Charges of Theft Of Treasury Checks

INDIANAPOLIS (U.P.)—Robert Joseph York, 40, Robinson, Ill., today was arrested on larceny charges in connection with the theft of three U. S. Treasury checks.

Mistake By Financial News Agency Results in Chaos on London Exchange

LONDON (U.P.)—Thousands of dollars were won and lost in 20 minutes Thursday night on the London Stock Exchange when a financial news agency made a mistake in reporting a company's dividend.

At 5:15 p. m. the financial service Comet Reuters flashed out a dividend that brokers throughout London's financial district had been waiting for. This was an hour and 45 minutes after the exchange officially closed.

"British Petroleum, Ltd., have declared a final dividend of 15 per cent tax free, making 20 per cent tax free for 1955," it said.

British Petroleum, formerly Anglo-Iranian, was selling for 143 shillings, 7½ pence at the time.

Although the stock market was closed, brokers returned to their office and dealers rushed for phones when the unexpectedly large dividend was announced. Thousands of shares changed hands as jobbers snapped up holdings offered by speculators who had bought earlier in anticipation of a bumper dividend.

Financial circles estimated that nearly three million dollars changed hands as the price rose to nearly 160 shillings.

Twenty-two minutes later British Petroleum said the final dividend was 10 per cent tax free, not 15 per cent. Five minutes later Comet flashed a correction which said the first message was "due to a clerical error."

The genuine B. P. dividend was announced, as is usual, after the exchange closed.

Chaos resulted. Telephone lines between brokers and jobbers of files were jammed. All dealings in the company's shares stopped and books were closed.

An investigation was opened at once. Financial circles said it was believed that any transactions made on the strength of the erroneous announcement might be cancelled by agreement between jobbers and brokers concerned. Otherwise, they said, many persons might suffer heavy financial losses.

Heiler paced the room a moment then balanced himself on the edge of the desk and fiddled with Anton's letter opener. "Tell me, Lisa. Do you know an American by the name of Dr. Harry Thackeray?"

"No. . . . Why?"

"Oh, we thought perhaps you did."

"He's working with your Underground. No doubt you'll meet him sooner or later, if you already haven't." Zervos said.

The strange line of questioning threw her off guard.

"How about a priest named Papa-Panos?"

"I know of him."

"What do you know?"

"Only what everyone else in Athens knows," Lisa thought, either the two of them are groping or they are on to something. . . .

"Now, Lisa. The purpose of this is to let you realize that we are not entirely ignorant of what is going on."

"I'm sure you're not," she replied.

"We are also aware of the fact that you've been lying to use. But I'm willing to let that be under the bridge. What I want to know is whether or not you are willing to begin cooperation."

"I made a bargain. . . ."

"Just a minute," Zervos interrupted. "You sound like a broken record. Our patience has run out. You understand what we mean without spelling it out?"

"I understand."

"I am going to offer you a proposition, Lisa. In exchange for some information, I will return your children to you and arrange a boat for you to Egypt."

Konrad Heiler opened his billfold and handed her a picture. It was one reproduced from the jacket of Michael Morrison's book. "This man is either in Athens or will be shortly. I will give you three weeks to turn him up. If you don't. . . ."

She handed the picture back.

"Is that all?"

Lisa walked from the office slowly. The eyes of Heiler and Zervos followed her. The door shut.

"By the way, Konrad. Do you really intend letting her go to Egypt with her children?"

"Of course not."

Mike had no choice but to get accustomed to the pump house in Chalandri. It was obvious that the final dash from Greece was no simple chore to arrange.

He was alert to every sound, from the rustle of a tree to the shuffle of footsteps that came after sundown. At the sound of the footsteps he unfailingly reached for his pistol.

One sound outside the pump house made him sigh with relief. The soft, light footsteps of Lisa. It was only human, under these conditions, for him to look forward with renewed eagerness to her nightly visit. And it was only natural for him to every deal of time thinking about her when she was gone. Mike felt that he always would have remembered her even if he had met her under ideal circumstances. There was that deep, haunting sadness in her face that seemed to give her beauty a mysterious aura.

On the eighth day she did not visit him.

The ninth day, Lisa lifted the phone and dialed Gestapo. Her face was chalky and beads of perspiration formed on her brow. She asked for Zervos.

"Do you know who this is?" she said.

"Yes," Zervos answered.

"Tonight at 10 I shall be walking down Aeolou Street past the National Bank. I may have someone with me."

"Very well."

Lisa hung up the receiver and clenched her teeth to fight off the uncontrollable tremors in her face. The door to the shack opened later that day.

Mike smiled as Lisa entered. He was so happy to see her, he was willing to forget yesterday when she did not come.

"I have good news, Vassili," Lisa said. "We are going into Athens tonight. We have made contact with someone about your departure."

Mike walked beside Lisa toward the tram line and he was riddled with conflicting feelings. First there was the relief of his departure from the pump house. There was excitement at the thought of getting out of Greece, and there was a little sadness in the knowledge that he'd never see Lisa again. But uppermost in his mind were the same fears that had tormented him before the train ride from Dadi to Athens.

They got off on October Street and took off afoot in the general direction of Concord Square.

As the crowd thickened near Concord Square, Lisa suddenly stopped, then changed their direction to a quieter side street.

They could hear the click of their heels as they walked through the Kolonaki section past the Church of Agiol Theodoroi.

Another block brought them to an intersection of Aeolou Street. They stopped.

Mike looked up Aeolou Street and in the distance could make out the Cable Office which he had used several times on his arrival in Athens. A bit above that stood the National Bank.

"Where do we go from here?" he asked.

Lisa took her arm from his. "Up Aeolou Street," she whispered.

Mike lit his pipe. The glow illuminated her face. Her eyes betrayed her.

"Wait," she said. "There is time yet. Come, I want to show you something."

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Former baseball umpire John W. (Ziggy) Sears brought suit for $46,200 damages Thursday for an eye injury he claims he suffered due to first baseman George Crowe's negligence.

He said Crowe, playing with the Milwaukee Brewers in 1951, let a thrown ball bounce off his glove and into Sears' face. He charged Crowe's fielding of the ball constituted negligence. Crowe is now a first baseman with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The great St. Louis Cardinal outfielder collected only one hit in four tries and hit into a rally-killing double play in the first inning. Stan walked off the field a "loser" when the Brooklyn Dodgers won, 7-3.

Legion-Stars to Play McLeansboro Here Sunday

Sunday afternoon, at the new ball field near the fairgrounds, the Harrisburg Legion-Stars will meet the McLeansboro Cardinals at 2:15 if the weather shapes up to the point where it will be permissible to play.

The locals have had rather rough sledding this season so far, having gotten in only 10 for short practice sessions and part of one ball game which was halted by rain and cold. Last Sunday's game with McLeansboro was washed out and probably will be played at a later date.

Starting for the locals in Sunday's game will be either Bill McNew or Don Wallace on the hill with Dick Romonosky doing the receiving. Around the infield will be Bob Dallas, Don Stout, Don Karnes and Ronnie Ziegler. Outfield starters will possibly include Harold Guiley, Ken Nolen and Rod Smith with Frank Logsdon, Jim Hay, Jim Parton and Vinyard available for starting or reserve roles.

The visitors, who boast of several good pitchers and a fast infield are expected to show up in full strength for this game pending the outcome of weather conditions.

Local players are asked to clock in by 12:30 p. m. pre-game batting and fly shagging.

Indians Roll Along with Fabulous 'Big Three' Hurlers Operating in High Gear

By United Press
It was like 1954 all over again for Al Lopez today with the Cleveland Indians' fabulous "Big Three" operating in high gear.

And nobody could blame the popular Cleveland manager if he quipped: "That's right, the experts were wrong again!"

For the Indians are rolling with seven victories in their last eight games and it's none other than Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn who are carrying the big pitching load. The experts predicted this spring that the "Big Three" was over the hill but they've accounted for six of the Tribe's eight wins this season.

Garcia, who had an 11-13 record last year in his only losing campaign in organized baseball struck out seven batters and hurled a neat six-hitter Thursday night as the Indians scored an easy 7-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. With Lemon's 2-1 record and Wynn's 3-0 slate, it gave the "Big Three" a composite 6-2 mark for the campaign.

"Throw In" Stars

Center fielder Jim Busby, acquired as a "throw-in" when the Indians traded Larry Doby to the Chicago White Sox for Chico Carrasquel, drove in three runs with a homer, double and single to spark Cleveland's 10-hit attack. Al Rosen also drove in three runs when he delivered a single with the bases filled and all runners going in the first inning.

Southpaw Bill Wight, who has been knocked out in four straight starts, suffered his fourth loss after yielding three runs in five innings.

Jim Lemon blasted a 475-foot, three-run homer in the seventh inning to give the Washington Senators a 7-4 triumph and knock the Chicago White Sox out of first place in the American League. The New York Yankees took over the top rung despite an 8-7 loss to the Kansas City Athletics.

Lemon's blow, which hit two rows from the top of the left field bleachers for one of the longest homers in the 44-year history of Griffith Stadium, also dealt Billy Pierce his first defeat. Bob Chakales, who allowed only three hits in 7 2-3 innings, picked up his second victory in the Senators' last three games.

Bob Friend's five-hitter and two-run homers by Frank Thomas and Dale Long enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 5-1, in the only other game played. The loss snapped the Redlegs' six-game winning streak.

Carrier Mills Lions To Pick Up Articles For Street Auction

Monday afternoon the Carrier Mills Lions club members will conduct a pickup of articles to be donated for a street auction the Lions will sponsor.

"We will make the pickup rain or shine," Lions' president Morse Hill stated. "The event had been planned for earlier this spring, but cold and rainy weather caused it to be cancelled.

Boy Scouts plan to make a house-to-house canvass to determine if there will be articles to be picked up, but Mr. Hill stated if anyone had something to donate and the Scouts failed to make contact, to please call either him or A. J. Henshaw and the truck will call for the donation.

Proceeds from the auction, date as yet undecided, will be used for the park fund.

A week from Monday, May 14, the Lions and their families will meet at the park for a picnic lunch and work session. All Lions and other interested persons are urged to be present for the work period.

"We plan to finish the park and make it ready for use this summer," Hill declared.

Work will consist of clearing the park grounds and starting on play ground equipment.

The club has purchased a large power mower to use in cutting weeds both at the park and at Salem cemetery, another project of the Carrier Mills Lions club.

Carrier Mills Blanks Galatia, 18-0

Carrier Mills pounded Galatia pitching for 24 hits and a 18-0 decision in a high school baseball game played at Carrier Mills Thursday afternoon. The decision gave Carrier Mills a 4 won, 3 lost record for the season.

The winners had 18 runs, 24 hits and played errorless ball. Galatia, with no runs, collected two hits and made just one error.

Evans went all the way for Carrier Mills with Collins and Davis catching. Woodard and Hankins was the Galatia battery.

Evans aided his own cause with five hits in five trips and Reid, centerfielder, had four for four. Evans and Cowger had home runs and Hill, Absher, Reid and Cowger pounded out triples.

Duane and Williams got Galatia's hits.

Carrier Mills and Shawneetown meet at CM Monday and Galatia hosts Ridgway the same afternoon.

Needles Draws No. 1 Position For Derby Run

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—No Kentucky Derby favorite has won in the last three years, but Trainer Hugh Fountaine was confident today that his Needles will come through on schedule for the Derby day crowd at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Every other trainer of the 18 three-year-olds entered in the 82nd and richest running of the first of the Triple Crown classics agreed that the breaks seem to ride with Fountaine and his colt, which has won $208,800 this year. But they weren't afraid of Needles.

The only trainer who wasn't particularly interested in getting the No. 1 post position was Fountaine. But he drew it for Needles, the stretch-running son of Ponder who has won two $100,000—added races this year, the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby.

Post May Hurt

Actually his slow-starting colt might have been better off farther out from the rail when the bulky field is sent after a winner's purse worth $123,400. Needles then could not get caught in a jam.

Also trying to stay out of a jam when the starting gates are sprung at 3:30 p. m. EDT on Saturday will be the Calumet Farm's entry of Fabius and Pintor Lea, C. V. Whitney's entry of Career Boy and Head Man, Count Chic, High King, No Regrets, Ben A. Jones, Besomer, Come On Red, Terrang, Jean Baptiste, Invalidate, King O'Swords, Black Emperor, and Countermand.

One of the entries, Reaping Right, already is an unlikely starter because he was injured in a training accident Thursday morning.

Also "Field Grouping"

In addition to the Calumet and Whitney entries, there will be a "field" grouping of Reaping Right, Come On Red, Jean Baptiste, Invalidate, and King O'Swords.

While most horsemen agree that a fit Needles would be hard to beat, they have been encouraged by the colt's behavior during the training period each morning. He refuses to extend himself and the scuttling on the backstretch has it that he will not be up to running a mile-and-a-quarter without a race in the last six weeks and without a serious workout during that time.

Needles raced and finished second before he won the Flamingo Stakes. After a month layoff, without a serious workout, he came back cold to win the Florida Derby. The extra two weeks' layoff and the mile and one-quarter distance of the Kentucky Derby will make a difference this time, they tell you.

Doesn't Peck

The Lewis woodpecker of the far west does not dig into wood for its food, but catches insects on the ground, in the air, or bores into fruit for them.

Eldorado Wins Third Place in Meet at Cairo

Eldorado scored 29 points to take third place honors in the Cairo Invitational Track and Field meet held Thursday.

The track was in excellent shape and records were set in every event except the 880-yard varsity relay. This is the second year for the meet.

Points were scored on a 5-3-2-1 basis. A trophy was presented to the winning team, ribbons were awarded to each individual winner and trophies were given the winning relay teams.

Willis first and Watson second in mile run, winning time 4:41.4; 880-yard run Woods fourth; 440-yard run Klaffer third; 220-yard dash Dempsey fourth.

Mile run, F. Willis Eldorado 4:41.4; low hurdles, Janseo Johnston City, 20.6; high hurdles Hart Christopher, 16.2; 880-yard varsity relay, Elkville 1:36; mile relay, Christopher 3:38.8; broad jump, Hart, Christopher, 20-7; high jump, Hart Christopher, 5-9; pole vault, Fann Hurst-Bush 11-7; shot put, Lovellette Eldorado 49-6 1-8; discus, Lovellette Eldorado, 148-7.

Sentenced for Strangling Wife

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury deliberated five hours and then found Donald Kristoffersen, 36, guilty Thursday night of strangling his wife Dec. 30 in their suburban Berwyn home.

Sentence for the 130-a-week personnel manager was set at 14 years.

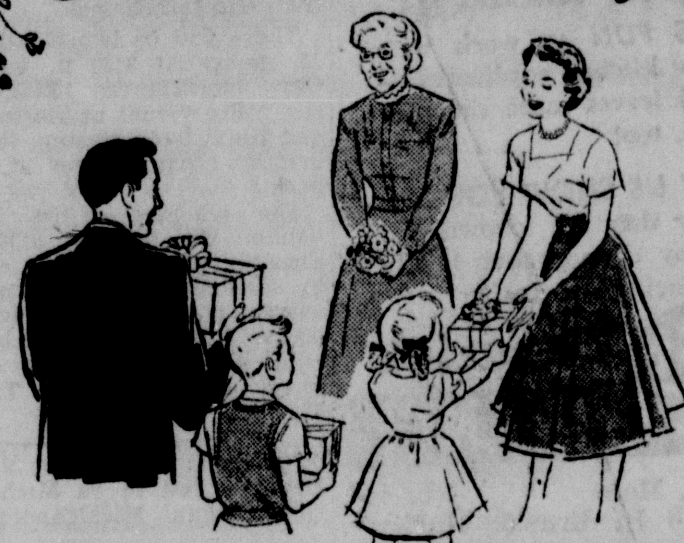

Kristoffersen insisted to the last that it must have been a stranger who killed his 35-year-old wife Doris. He said he fell asleep in their living room and awoke to find her dead. Lynn Kristoffersen, 12, the oldest of the couple's two daughters, told the court earlier Thursday that she heard her parents arguing and her mother sobbing on the night of the killing.

It was the first time the girl had seen her father since the slaying.
